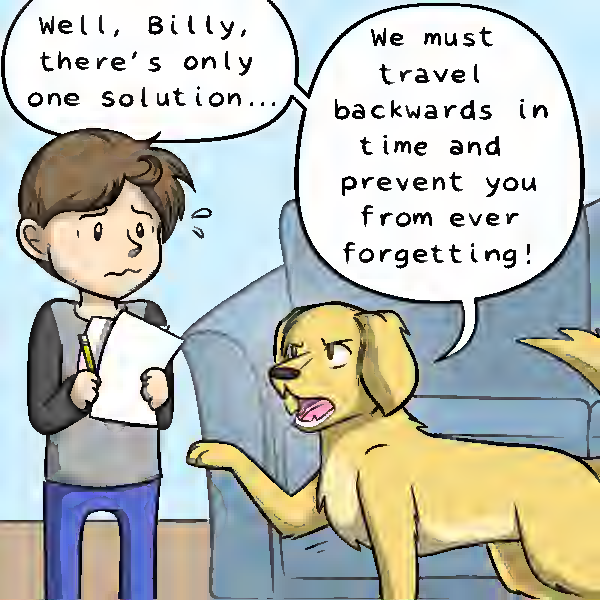
Oh no, Chips!
I forgot to do my science homework and it's almost time for school!



Well, Billy, there's only one solution...
We must travel backwards in time and prevent you from ever forgetting!

When I run super fast in clockwise circles, it de-timeifies my molecules.
If my theory is correct, I should be able to accumulate enough temporal momentum to send us into the past!

Gee, I dunno, Chips... That doesn't sound like it'd work.
It's all very technical, Billy. If you had done your science homework, you would understand.
PAT
PAT

Now hurry and enter my spiralling temporal vortex!
The fate of your grades hangs in the balance!